* Comment The personnel of the Cottbus railroad repair shop, which is assigned directly to the Directorate General, Railroads, is not included in this tabulation. The Cottbus railroad district which was established only after the end of World War II with regard to the zonal borders, is the second smallest railroad district in the Soviet Zone of Germany. The fact that about 98 percent of the personnel are members of the FDGB, while only 28 percent have joined the SED, is significant.
